'VARSITY TO PLAY ST. LAWRENCE SAT.

Football Team to Tackle N. Y. Eleven at Canton

SCARLET HAS FAIR RECORD

Wins Over R. P. I. but Loses To Union and Rochester

St. Lawrence Results

St. Lawrence 10, St. Stephens 0
St. Lawrence 6, R. P. I. 0
St. Lawrence 7, Union 9
St. Lawrence 0, Rochester 29

Special to The Campus

Canton, N. Y., Oct. 26, 1921—With nine veterans lost to the team, St. Lawrence's gridiron prospects this season have consistently looked bad. St. Stephen's, which was administered a 45-0 defeat by the Scarlet last year, gave stiff resistance in the first game. The game with R. P. I., the conquerors 23-0 of Stevens Saturday, and with Union were both big surprises to St. Lawrence supporters, as very unfavorable scores had been expected. The Canton men showed a fighting spirit that made up for their lack of skill. On the other hand the disastrous defeat at Rochester was due to a great let down in morale.

St. Lawrence Idle Last Week-end

Saturday the team rested but strenuous practice was started again Monday. MacAllaster, the Scarlet fullback, who was injured early in the season and who played only a few minutes in the Rochester game, will probably be unable to appear in the line-up as his old trouble with his knee has returned. Ongle, half back, and Caswell, end, who received severe ankle wrenches in the Rochester game, are still on the sidelines and it is doubtful if they can appear against Middlebury.

Middlebury Resting

With the heavy half of the schedule now behind them, the Middlebury football team has been enjoying a much earned rest and has gone without practice for several days. There were no serious injuries as a result of the Williams game and it is hoped that Ashley, who has been out since the West Point trip, will be back against St. Lawrence. Moynihan, who suffered a wrenched ankle Saturday, is coming along nicely.

The probable line-up will be:—

St. Lawrence	Middlebury
Connery, r.e.	r.e., Keppler
C. Neavling, r.t.	r.t., Norton
Beha, r.g.	r.g., Reinbrecht
Colon, c.	c., Moynihan
Kane, l.g.	l.g., Kalin
G. Neavling, l.t.	l.t., Potratz
Murphy or Bagley, l.e.	l.e., Gallagher
Atwood, Capt., q.b.	q.b., Quackenbush
Smith, r.h.b.	r.h.b., Drost
Miller, l.h.b.	l.h.b., Ashley
Flynn, f.b.	f.b., Capt. Gollnick

COMMUNITY RECEPTION TO PRESIDENT MOODY TONIGHT

President Paul Dwight Moody and Mrs. Moody will be tendered a public reception in the vestry of the Congregational Church tonight from 8 until 10 o'clock. The village committee in charge has extended a cordial invitation to all to meet Middlebury's new executive.

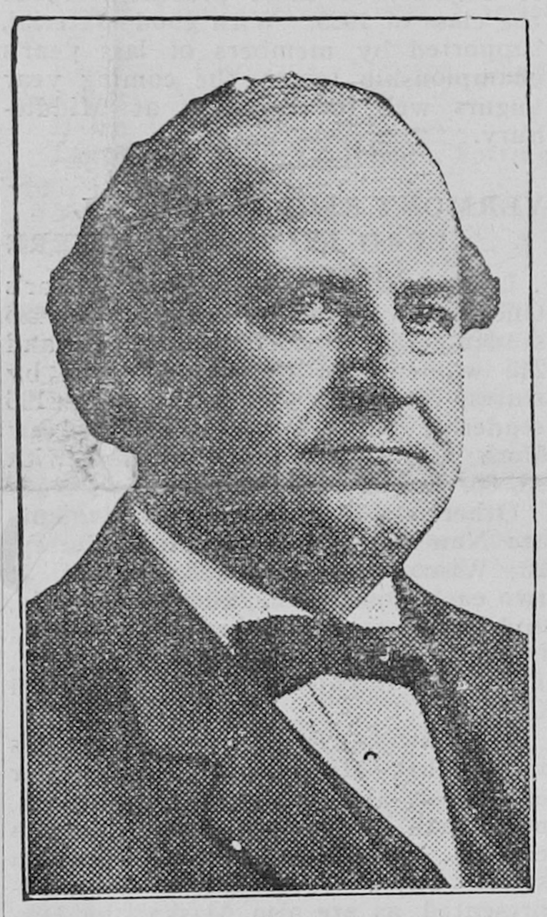
BRYAN TO SPEAK HERE MONDAY

Lecture Is First Feature of Entertainment Course

BRYAN A FAMOUS ORATOR

First Rose to Prominence in 1896 Campaign

The first feature of the Middlebury College entertainment course, arranged by the Student Life Committee will be a lecture by Hon. William Jennings Bryan, famous orator and statesman, in Mead Memorial Chapel, Monday evening, October 31, at eight o'clock.



Hon. William Jennings Bryan

Colonel Bryan, who has for many years been one of America's outstanding political figures, was graduated from the Illinois College in the class of 1881. Shortly after his graduation he was sent to Congress and after serving two terms became the Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Nebraska, but was defeated. In 1896 he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention and wrote the "Silver Plank" in its platform. In closing the debate on the platform he made what was perhaps his most notable speech, concluding with the words, "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

This speech commonly known as the "Cross of Gold" speech is generally believed to have caused his nomination for President, his candidacy being wholly unexpected by the general public. The speech attained immediate and widespread celebrity, was read everywhere and the subject of strong debate.

As a platform speaker Colonel Bryan's supremacy is unquestioned. Very few of the great orators in our national history have reached his heights as a commander of the multitude. James Otis, Samuel Adams, Patrick Henry, Daniel Webster, Rufus Choate, Henry Clay, Abraham Lincoln, James G. Blaine and others of history, have all

FRESHMEN DEFEAT EDMUNDS HIGH 7-0

Yearlings Trim Burlington Schoolboys at Porter Field Saturday—Many Fumbles and Misplays

While the 'Varsity was taking the measure of Williams, the Middlebury freshman team was overwhelming the Edmunds High School team at Porter Field Saturday by the score 7-0. The game was marred by frequent misplays and costly fumbles but the ball was in Middlebury's hands most of the time and the yearling goal line was never in serious danger. On the other hand Middlebury was constantly threatening to score but at critical moments the high school team's line stiffened and held for downs.

1925 Scores in First Half

The yearlings opened up the first quarter with a fine series of offensive plays, Gollnick, Kilbride, Deitchman and Myers tearing through time after time for substantial gains. Middlebury secured her only touchdown in the period when Myers, the freshman quarter, carried the ball over the line. The frosh lost a second score because of a fumble after the ball had been carried the ball over the Edmunds High School goal line.

Burlington Threatens

In the second half Burlington showed new spirit and her backs plunged through the Middlebury line for long gains but when the high school team got within striking distance of a touchdown, the defensive of the 1925 eleven stiffened and took the ball out of danger. A forward pass, Kilbride to Wiggins, which gained 30 yards was a feature of the latter stage of the game but Middlebury, was unable to score again and the play ended with the ball under the shadow of the Edmunds goal posts.

Yearling Backfield Strong

The yearling backfield all played well, Deitchman in particular making some fine gains until he was taken out

Williams Team Loses on Weston Field for First Time Since 1916

FORWARD DECIDES GAME

Middlebury Scores Touchdown in Last Period—Game Close

Williams tasted defeat in 'varsity football on Weston Field for the first time in five years when the fast, aggressive Middlebury eleven invaded Williamstown Saturday and chalked up a 7-3 victory over the Purple. The last previous game lost by the home team on Weston Field was on October 21, 1916 when Brown University succeeded in taking Williams' measure.

Middlebury's fighting eleven more than upheld its splendid record in the other four games played thus far this season, completely outplaying the Massachusetts eleven and gaining 18 first downs as compared with six amassed by its opponent.

Middlebury Scores After Williams

With nine minutes left to play and Williams leading 3-0, Middlebury uncorked a dazzling offensive combining straight line plays and a brilliant overhead game that carried the ball across for the touchdown that spelled victory. For three periods stubborn resistance kept either team from scoring; then in the last quarter Williams' hopes rose when Mallon, quarter-back executed a successful drop-kick and put hins team ahead with a three-point lead.

But the Williamstown joy was short-lived for in the next five minutes Middlebury staged a determined rally that could not be stopped and ended with a neat forward, Papke to Hollquist, which put the ball over the Purple line for a touchdown. Potratz kicked the goal and the game was won, 7-3.

Middlebury Threatens in First Quarter

Early in the game Middlebury threw quite a scare into the Purple camp. The Vermonters received and straight football aided by several Williams off-side penalties carried the ball down to the 5-yard line before the Williams line stiffened and held for downs. Richmond punted but his kick was blocked and the 'varsity recovered on the 20-yard line. Then began a second Middlebury assault which brought the ball forward 10 yards. A pass was sent over the line and but for an unfortunate fumble a score would have been slated for the first period. Williams kicked out of danger this time and for the remainder of the quarter the play seasawed in the middle of the field.

No Score in Second or Third Periods

The second quarter saw the ball in Williams territory for all but a short time when the Purple attack advanced to the Blue 1-yard line. At this point Potratz and Norton broke through and smeared Richmond for a loss and he was forced to kick out of danger. The play featured punting with Richmond outkicking Drost, the latter being handicapped by a strong wind.

Middlebury kicked off to Williams at the beginning of the second half and the ball remained for the most part in the center of the field. Once when the

VOL. XVIII October 26, 1921 NO. 5

The 'Varsity

Successive victories over Norwich and Williams preceded by hard-fought and highly creditable battles against three of the leading elevens in the east, Harvard, Dartmouth and West Point, are conclusive proof that Middlebury has a football team that will go down on record as one of the best Vermont elevens in history. The glorious victory Saturday was more than a mere indication of superiority over Williams. It demonstrated conclusively that Coach Morey has built up a powerful and aggressive machine that must be reckoned with in picking the teams among the leading smaller New England colleges. It proved that Middlebury is a worthy foe and a dangerous opponent for any institution of her size. Just as Harvard, Yale and Princeton can no longer be classed as the "big three" on the gridiron, so no longer can Williams, Amherst, and Wesleyan dominate their class in New England football.

For years Middlebury has had to be content with the small end of the score at Williamstown and the satisfaction of a strong fight against a winning team, but at last she has emerged triumphant against the Purple, conscious of her own power and revelling in the taste of a splendid triumph. The news of the victory Saturday can not have failed to thrill the heart of every loyal alumnus and undergraduate.

William Jennings Bryan

The public life of William Jennings Bryan from the time of his spectacular entrance into the eyes of the world when his famous free silver speech echoed from coast to coast in 1896 to this day, is a record of successes and failures all dominated alike by a strong man's true vision of service. During all these years Mr. Bryan has never dodged an issue, never accepted a popular policy merely because it was popular but always he has met his problems with rugged directness, choosing uncompromisingly what he considered to be the right. Whatever one may think of his politics, of his stand upon certain national questions, or of his attitude with regard to the international policy of the United States, one can never question his sincerity.

There is an interesting and elevated philosophy to be noted in all of Mr. Bryan's speeches. It is the true philosophy of the Christian religion. He says himself, "I make a great many speeches on many different subjects, but there is a sameness about them all. Whether I speak on politics, on social questions or on religion, I find the foundation of my speech in the philosophy of Him who spake as never man spake; who gave us a philosophy that fits into every human need and furnishes the solution to every human problem that can vex a human heart or perplex the world." That one so conspicuous as a politician is no less conspicuous as a Christian is indeed a happy circumstance.

That Middlebury, in these days with the approach of the great Disarmament Conference at Washington, the impending railroad strike and countless other hardly less importnat national and international questions to occupy the minds of an intelligent public, shall be privileged to hear a man inspired by these ideals is indeed fortunate and a real opportunity.

Correction

Owing to an unfortunate error the names of the Gove Studio and the Middlebury Supply Company were omitted from the list of Campus advertisers printed in last week's edition of The Campus under the heading "Concerning Advertising." These merchants have long been among the regular supporters of The Campus and are deserving of every consideration by the student body. The article was intended to cast no reflection upon their loyalty to the college and The Campus sincerely regrets the omission of their names.

The practice, inaugurated last week, of announcing the organ prelude in the daily chapel service is one that commends itself for adoption. It provides an easy method for the student to familiarize himself with a wide variety of the world's choicest musical selections.

93 in Women's Glee Club

Ninety-three members of the Women's College have pledged themselves to membership in the Glee Club, which has been organized this fall under the direction of Miss Minnie Hayden. The honor system is to be used in regard to attendance, but everyone is urged to be present at the rehearsals, which are held at four o'clock on Monday and Thursday afternoons in the Old Music Hall on Weybridge St.

Word has been received by The Campus from Miss Edith Tallmadge ex-'22 who is teaching at Pleasant Hill Academy, Pleasant Hill, Tenn. Miss Tallmadge is in charge of the sewing, cooking and bookkeeping classes, is coaching basketball and assisting the song and cheer leaders.

ADAMS '23 HEADS WETHERELL CLUB

Debaters Elect Officers for Coming Year—Secretary Negotiating With Seven Colleges

The Wetherell Debating Club inaugurated its regular fortnightly meetings Friday evening in Old Chapel, by the election of Adams '23 as President; Eddy '23, Vice-President; Klimm '24, Secretary-Treasurer; and Professor Kline, for the Faculty and DeGroff '25 for the student body, as members of the Executive Committee.

Adams, who has long been associated with the activities of the club and of debating work in Middlebury, is also president of the Tau Kappa Alpha Debating Fraternity.

The Secretary was instructed to proceed with present plans, that negotiations be made to have debates with St. Lawrence University, Vermont, Bates, Dartmouth, Brown, Williams and Amherst, during the coming year.

An open discussion on the disarmament question, participated in by twenty-two men, evidenced the fact that a large number were interested in debating and were willing to support it. A majority of those present were of the class of 1925. With good material, supported by members of last year's championship teams, the coming year augurs well for debating at Middlebury.

VERMONT STUDENTS STILL LEAD IN NUMBERS HERE

Latest statistics from the Registrar's Office show a total enrollment of 485 students in the college, 239 men and 246 women. In the classification by states, Vermont still leads with 196 students, while Massachusetts, New York, and Connecticut rank next with 98, 66, and 49 respectively.

Other states contributing students are New Hampshire, 23; New Jersey, 20; Wisconsin, 9; Ohio, 6; Illinois, 3; two each from Maine, Florida, Canada, and the District of Columbia; one each from Pennsylvania, Alaska, California, Delaware, Indiana, Rhode Island, and Utah.

The distribution of undergraduates shows that Middlebury is no longer exclusively a New England institution, more than 25 per cent of her students coming from southern and western states. There are seventeen states represented, as are also Alaska, the District of Columbia, and Canada. The division according to classes is as follows: seniors, 79; juniors, 112; sophomores, 132; and freshmen, 162.

$20,000 RAISED TOWARD SHELDON MEMORIAL FUND

Nearly $20,000 has already been raised toward the $100,000 endowment fund which is to be raised in honor of the late Dr. Samuel Sheldon '83. The income of the fund, which is to be known as the Sheldon Foundation, will be used to pay the salary of the Sheldon Professorship in Electrical Engineering at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. The 920 donors include persons prominent in the engineering profession, personal friends and acquaintances, as well as trustees, professors and students of the Polytechnic.

Dr. Sheldon, who was for many years prominently identified with the Brooklyn institution, died September 4, 1920.

Freshman Class Elects

At the freshman class meeting held Wednesday in the hemicycle Katharine Mix of Worcester, Mass., was elected vice-president; George Clark of Palmyra, N. Y., treasurer; and Verna Scott of Port Chester, N. Y., secretary. John T. Lee of Washington, D. C., was chosen as the member to the Student Council by the men, and a committee consisting of Brown, Leary, Miss Winter, Miss Woolsey and Miss Sheldon was appointed to select the class colors.

NO DANGER OF SCARLET FEVER AT MIDDLEBURY

According to advice by the district health officer the danger to which the college was placed by the recent scarlet fever case in Bridport, has passed and the several students who were exposed to the disease and were either put in quarantine or sent to their homes are now discharged. They have been given several examinations on successive days but none has developed symptoms of the disease.

Neutral Girls Give Party

The first party of the Independents was given in Pearsons Social Hall, Thursday evening, October 20th. The freshman independent girls were given an opportunity to become better acquainted with the upperclass girls. A short entertainment, consisting of dances, songs and stunts, which was given by a group of girls, was followed by games and dancing in which all participated. The party broke up into small groups, the girls going to various rooms, where refreshments were served.

Holden-Jacot

Edwin R. Holden ex-'18, who graduated from Yale Divinity School last spring and is now pastor of the Congregational Church at Portsmouth, Va., was married recently to Miss Eveline J. Jacot of Monroe, Conn.

Women Elect Class Captains

Captains of class American-ball teams were elected at a meeting of try-outs from the Women's College, Monday afternoon in Old Chapel. Miss Elsie Scott was chosen to head the seniors; Miss Katherine Gahagan, the juniors; Miss Martha Baldwin, the sophomores; and Miss Beryle Gaylor, the freshmen.

REV. C. R. BROWN SPEAKS AT VESPERS SERVICE SUNDAY

Inspiring Sermon by Dean of Yale Divinity School in Mead Chapel

Rev. Charles Reynolds Brown, dean of Yale Divinity School, New Haven, speaking in Mead Memorial Chapel at Vespers service Sunday took as his text Romans XII: 2, "And be not fashioned according to this world but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is the good and acceptable and perfect will of God.

Dean Brown defined two types of men; those who rise or fall to conform to the moral level, and those who have certain purposes to be fulfilled. The latter is the man worth while. There is a goal to be reached, by the renewal of the minds and by the help that will make victory sure, the invincible will of God. Man is not here to take himself as he finds himself but to be transformed. Progress, explained Dean Brown, comes only by cooperation with a certain mighty unseen power, The perfect will of God.

Dean Brown is well-known as a college lecturer on ethics as well as the author of several religious books, among them, "Two Parables", "The Social Message of the Modern Pulpit", "Faith and Health", "The Modern Man's Religion" and "The Quest of Life".

LEWIS '22 PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

At the rehearsal of the college orchestra last Friday, a short business meeting was held, and the following officers for the year were elected: president, George F. Lewis '22; vice-president, Miss Madeleine I. Gaylor '22; concert-master, Payson R. Webber '24; librarian, R. Gale Spaulding '24. The orchestra is under the personal direction of Professor Larsen, and it is his desire that as many students as possible will become connected with the organization. It is hoped that all those who play orchestral instruments of any sort and who have not previously attended rehearsals will do so this week, as new music has already been ordered. The orchestra meets every Friday afternoon at four o'clock in the band room in South Painter Hall unless otherwise announced.

'VARSITY HARRIERS LOSE TO DARTMOUTH

Middlebury Cross-Country Runners Trail 17-43—Captain Cole Finishes Fourth

Middlebury's second attempt in cross-country running ended in a 17-43 defeat by Dartmouth here Friday. The Dartmouth men upheld the reputation they have gained in cross-country events in past years, Coakley, Captain of the Green in 1920, crossing the finish line first. His time was 26 minutes, 4 seconds. Captain Cole '22 who led the Middlebury team, finished fourth.

The course was from in front of the D. K. E. House to Cornwall corners and return, a distance of four and one-half miles. Certain sections of the road were very muddy and made the running difficult.

The order of runners at the finish was: Coakley, D., Sherburne, D., Young, D., Cole, M., Winsor, D., Capt. Shem, D., Forbush, D., Cook, M., Shelvey, M., Palmer, M., Wexler, M., Whittinghill, D., Gray, M., Oliver, M., Whitten, M., Udall, D. Udall failed to finish the course, and fell exausted about one mile from the finish line.

Coach Brown's men are to meet R. P. I. at Troy, November 5, while other meets are pending.

KALEIDOSCOPE AWARDS CONTRACT FOR PRINTING

Announcement is made by The 1923 Kaleidoscope Board that negotiations have been concluded with Charles L. Willard of 154 Nassau Street, New York City, for the printing and binding of the annual. The Willard firm has specialized for years in the college annual business.

A pledge drive will be soon under way, under the direction of Donald Ross, the business manager, and it is hoped to pledge at least 90 per cent of the undergraduate body.

William S. Brackett and Haskins B. Canfield '20 are taking graduate work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Set Thanksgiving Eve as Date for First Formal Dance of Season

Botsford, Cruikshank, Force, Hunter, Lorenzo and Simmons and Misses Foster, Kirby, Quigley, Mead and Walsh have been appointed to serve on the Sophomore Hop Committee. Arthur E. Witham was elected chairman at a recent meeting of the class of '24. Wednesday, November 23, Thanksgiving eve, was chosen by the committee as the date for the Hop and Hunter has been delegated a committee of one to secure music. He has written to many college and private orchestras in New York and New England but as yet no definite selection has been made.

The sale of tickets will be limited as in previous years to seventy-five couples, that being the largest number that can be accommodated suitably in McCullough Gymnasium. The price of tickets will probably be the same as last year.

WM. J. BRYAN TO SPEAK HERE MONDAY

been men of tremendous oratorical ability; but none of them has surpassed Colonel Bryan's power to sway an audience.

Throughout all the years his oratorical powers have never waned. His recent speeches have been as finely phrased, as eloquently delivered, as wittily pointed, as moving in their appeal, as any in his long career. Accepting his premises it is always difficult to find a flaw in his argument, or a misplaced word in his fluent diction. All of Col. Bryan's addresses contain the supreme virtue of simplicity and lucidity. His statements are clear and pointed. He never utters a turgid sentence and he never blinks at an unpopular truth.

As a statesman Colonel Bryan has achieved great distinction. He has probably been in the spotlight longer than any equally prominent men in recent American history. He stood for prohibition when it had few friends and a multitude of scoffers but now the nation has adopted his views and incorporated them in the Constitution of the United States. For years he campaigned for an income-tax and was abused for his views as though he were robbing the poor rich people of their money. Today both state and national governments have adopted it. During his brief term as Secretary of State he concluded treaties of peace with thirty nations; treaties which competent authorities say might have prevented the world war had they been universally adopted.

Even his famous "sixteen-to-one" controversy does not look so impossible to experts as it did to many twenty-five years ago. Some economists are beginning to ask, since gold itself has fluctuated so much, if Mr. Bryan was very far wrong. Many of the policies which Mr. Bryan has sponsored when in their most popular stages have been adopted by the opposition party with loud acclaim. He himself says with wit and truth that the Republicans have stolen many of his old clothes.

Throughout the entire world, whereever he has spoken, Colonel Bryan has been a general favorite, and his lecture will offer a rare opportunity to hear the foremost orator of the day speak on problems of such timely importance.

MIDDLEBURY DEFEATS WILLIAMS BY SCORE 7-3

Middlebury goal seemed in danger Ashley was sent in to punt out of danger, but owing to his injured wrist, was taken out immediately, Jakway replacing him.

Forward Wins Game

Mallon's field goal came shortly after the last quarter got under way. Williams had uncorked a strong attack, successful forwards and end runs bringing the ball to the Middlebury 8-yard line. Here the 'varsity took a big brace and the Purple could not gain so Mallon dropped back to the 15-yard line for a drop.

With nine minutes left to play Middlebury let loose with all she had, and the Purple was slowly forced back to its own 10-yard line, a completed 30-yard forward pass to Drost featuring in the advance. Finally Papke shot a forward across the line to Hollquist and the scoring for the day was ended.

Many Star in Game

The whole Middlebury team played well, the line doing some classic work both on the defense and the offense. Drost and Papke did most of the ground-gaining for the backfield while Daly and Gollnick featured on the defensive, the latter exhibiting some remarkable interference. Richmond and Mallon starred for Williams in the backfield and Fargo and Laws were the strength of the line.

Y. W. C. A. LEADERS EXPLAIN DEPARTMENTS

The Y. W. C. A. meeting held at Pearsons Social Hall Sunday evening assumed a rather unusual form of procedure. The members of the cabinet acted as leaders, each one giving a synopsis of the work they hoped to accomplish during the year, in their particular field of activity.

Miss Edith Sibley '22 spoke on the Y. W. C. A. Convention at which she was a delegate, held last week at New York City. Membership cards were given to those who wished to belong to the Association.

L. T. Wade '22, chairman of the Rally-Banquet Committee, is negotiating with the Rutland Railroad Co. to secure a special train to convey the student body to and from Burlington, November 12, the date of the Middlebury-Vermont game on Centennial Field. Further announcement will be made in next week's issue of The Campus.
